

Mills College
Domestic Exchange/Visit Program Application
(Please print or type)

Continuing undergraduate students seeking a Mills degree who have a GPA of 3.0 or higher and who have no "Incomplete" grades on their record may participate in a Mills domestic exchange or domestic visit program during their junior year. These programs provide an opportunity for students to study at participating institutions within the United States (see the list below). Students participating in the domestic exchange program pay the Mills full-time tuition, room and board, and incidental fees to Mills while attending the exchange institution. Students participating in the domestic visit program pay the host institution's tuition, room and board, and incidental fees through Mills. Students must be enrolled in classes at Mills the semester prior to participation in domestic study.

Please indicate school choice for Domestic Exchange or Visit:
